

THE WORLD MOVES SWIFTLY

and we must all keep step with the progress the days bring forth. New inventions leap to page one head-lines—new discoveries lengthen life and give us intimate knowledge of other ages, other types of inhabitants . . . lengthy names confuse—SCIENCE SERVICE gives to the world and his wife FACTS that are the essence of accuracy yet are phrased so that the layman can understand perfectly each new development.

Drama lurks in every test-tube, dwells in every shovelful of earth lifted from the site of an ancient civilization, is a passenger on the wide wings of every whirring airplane, spans thousands of miles via the wonder of radio. To know these facts while news really is news—that is the desire of every thinking person.

The SCIENCE NEWS-LETTER was established as a personal publication purchasable only by the individual—for home, for club and for class-room—for library and for laboratory.
