ly for 5.5 seconds each, with a decelerating (forward) thrust of 2,500 lbs.

By the time these rockets are triggered over the Pacific for a landing in the primary Atlantic recovery area off Grand Turk Island, Gemini will already have been committed to certain re-entry and a landing near Ascension Island in the South Atlantic.

16-Rocket System

This will have been accomplished by the Orbit Attitude and Maneuvering System (OAMS), a basic 16-rocket system developed by North American Aviation's Rocketdyne Division. Canoe

This Plastic Model Kit Also Contains the Mercury Space Capsule!
