EXPLORING THE REEF
by Robert P. L. Straughan. An exciting, illustrated adventure among the coral reefs—a fairyland of sea flowers and coral jungles teeming with animal life. Serves as a practical guide for the beginning diver who wants to explore the reef with maximum safety, identify poisonous sea creatures, select a place to dive, and know what to avoid. There is advice about how to collect, clean, and preserve coral; and instruction on how to start a salt-water aquarium and stock it with interesting specimens. A chapter on the Great Barrier Reef—perhaps the most dangerous of them all—concludes this fascinating volume.

CAVES AND THE MARVELOUS WORLD BENEATH US
by Robert Stenuit. Anyone interested in the study of caves and their effect on man's evolution will welcome this beautifully illustrated book. In glacial periods, caves provided shelter, later became mysterious art galleries. Now, the new generation has taken to exploring this underground adventure world. This book shows why men and women risk their lives beneath the earth. Of immense value to speleologists around the world. Over 73 photographs and drawings, many in vivid color.

Reg. $5.95—YOUR COST $4.76

FACING THE UNIVERSE
by V. A. Firsoff. A guide to the cosmos written by a foremost astronomer and intended for readers having no specialized knowledge; yet even experts will be interested in the new ideas and theories set forth in the book. Author surveys the historical background of astronomy, including discoveries of the ancient Greeks and most recently the Doppler Effect and the "Red Shift." He gives a concise account of the present state of astronomy, discusses the formation and evolution of galaxies, and describes the two prevalent theories about the origin and nature of the universe, offering his own views. Over 30 illustrations and drawings.

Reg. $8.50—YOUR COST $6.80

EXPLORING THE PLANETS
by V. A. Firsoff. Written simply and informatively, this book sums up what is known about the solar system, space travel, and the stars. The author moves logically from a study of the Earth itself to a description of the solar system as seen through a telescope—describing objects that can be seen and what lies beyond. He introduces the subject of space science and space flight, takes the reader on a planet-by-planet tour of the solar system. Over 50 photographs and drawings.

COMPLETE GUIDE TO GARDEN FLOWERS: An Encyclopedia of Garden Planning, by Herbert Askwith. A monumental volume covering over 2,000 subjects, with more than 1,000 full color illustrations of every desirable flower and ornamental plant in every region of North America. Alphabetically arranged.

Reg. $12.50—YOUR COST $10.00

NATURE IN RECREATION
by Margaret Ickis. Newly enlarged, this is the most recent edition of the popular guide to recreation programs. Included are such activities as camping, handicraft, aquatics. This book will deepen the reader's awareness of the world of Nature. Many drawings.

Reg. $3.95—YOUR COST $3.16

SHARKS, MORAYS, AND TREASURE
by Robert P. L. Straughan. The author recaptures exciting moments during his adventures, and nearly fatal encounters with man-eating sharks, barracudas, moray eels, and the Portuguese Man-of-War. The fascinating life of the skin-diver collector was often threatened by fierce tropical storms above and the wild, beautiful life of the coral reef below. Illustrated with photographs from the author's personal collection, many of them striking underwater action shots.

Reg. $5.95—YOUR COST $4.76

THE FOUR SEASONS OF SURVIVAL
by William L. Van Allen. Set in the primitive country of central Oregon, this story relates the struggles of animals against flood, blizzard, fire, and man. It portrays a realistic picture of the mounting attrition faced by our rapidly vanishing wildlife. More than 150 photographs.

Reg. $8.50—YOUR COST $6.80

PORPOISE TALES
by William B. Gray. Author describes the fascinating characteristics of this extraordinary, intelligent animal, and the methods used to teach them to perform high leaps, fan-tail dancing, and other challenging feats. A book that will delight animal-lovers and naturalists. 40 illustrations.

Reg. $4.95—YOUR COST $3.96

GROWING ORCHIDS FOR PLEASURE
by Jeanne Garrard. Tells simply and brightly everything you need to know about how to grow orchids in your garden, on your windowsills, or even in your basement. A book of practical instruction that will bring an exciting and delightful pastime into your family circle and fill your house with flowers. Illustrated in color and monochrome.

Reg. $8.50—YOUR COST $6.80

HUMAN ROBOTS IN MYTH AND SCIENCE
by John Cohen. A fascinating entry into the world of the mechanical man—in antiquity, during the middle ages, and as he appears in modern times. Author also discusses the implications of the robot for future societies. Many illustrations.

Reg. $5.00—YOUR COST $4.00

THE SALT-WATER AQUARIUM IN THE HOME
by Robert P. L. Straughan. The enlarged up-dated edition that tells the marine collector everything he needs to know about this fast-growing hobby. Illustrated in color and black-and-white.

I'm working my way through M.I.T... would you like to buy a subscription to Science News?

He not only sells Science News . . . he reads it from cover to cover. Most of his colleagues do the same.

Our readership is well-educated and well-informed. Professional scientists and engineers in research and industry, science students and teachers, and science-minded laymen all like our magazine. They like it because it's an up-to-the-minute, fact-filled progress report to them on virtually every field of science and its applications . . . with special emphasis on what's new in the fields they'd like to know more about, as well as the ones they're familiar with.

Why not send a gift subscription to someone you know who would especially enjoy receiving such a practical and provocative present? Simply fill out the coupon and mail it to us. We'll take care of the rest.
