

Advice to youth on 1974 Science Fairs:

Winning a prize is more satisfying than not winning a prize.

Judges favor projects they can understand.

Well-planned photography may help them understand.

Now—not next spring—is the time to plan.

We offer helpful hints.

THE ENDLESS OCTAVE

An Auditory Illusion Record

A musical scale is repeated over and over. EACH and EVERY note sounds higher than the preceding one, yet after ANY number of notes have been played the scale is still in the middle of the audible range. (On Side 2 the scale descends.) A DEMONSTRATION OF PERCEPTUAL LIMITATIONS in human hearing. A puzzling MIND-TWISTER.

Mike Boyd is about people, opportunities and careers.

Just a few short years ago Mike Boyd could have gone into pro basketball or football. He's that good.

Instead, Mike chose a career at General Motors Institute. He's very good at that, too. Mike Boyd's career involves helping young people make decisions about their own opportunities and careers.

Mike's a recruiter in a very special field at GMI. He's deeply committed to the Pre-Engineering and Management Program. It's for young people who might not ordinarily qualify for GMI because of inadequate or deprived schooling backgrounds.

The success of this program has been quite gratifying, especially to Mike. A very high percentage of those who've started in Pre-EM have gone on to further opportunities at the GMI campus. In fact, there are more than 3,000 men and women advancing toward bachelor degrees in industrial, mechanical and electrical engineering, as well as in industrial administration at GMI right now. The five-year program allows students to rotate six-week sections at GMI with employment periods at sponsoring GM units.

Although it's not specifically a part of his job, Mike continues to maintain a casual but interested relationship with his recruits. He may rap with them over a game of pool or under a basketball net.

And Mike Boyd is but one of the personable people GMI is all about.

For more information about opportunities at GMI, write: Office of Admissions, GMI, Flint, Michigan 48502.
