"The customer is always right."

-UNITRON

When you invest in a telescope, you have every right to expect excellent quality, performance and enjoyable trouble-free operation. You are assured of all these features when you choose a Unitron refractor. But when it comes to performance, we let our customers do the talking. Here are a few examples:

"Surpasses limits of amateur instrument"

"Our first tests with the Unitron 4" Photo - Equatorial — it was a rather poor night — included Epsilon Lyrae (the double-double), the Ring nebula, the Hercules cluster, and Saturn. Magnificent! In spite of the low altitude of Saturn we saw equatorial belts, rings, ring-shadow, and two moons. The double-double was split without any difficulty and the clusters showed distinctly that they were composed of single stars. It is a telescope which surpasses the limits of an amateur-type instrument."

M. K., Ohio

"Shows Saturn plainer than 6" reflector"

"I have written you many times in the past about the success which I have had over the past few years in planetary observing with the 4". About a year ago I purchased a 6" Reflector . . . Last year I used both telescopes on Saturn in a simultaneous observation program . . . the 4" Refractor showed Saturn plainer and more distinct than did the 6" . . . I have compared my planetary drawings to those drawings of other observers using even 8" and 10" Reflectors and they show nothing more than can be detected with my Model 150."

R. G., Pennsylvania

"Optics of my 3" unexcelled"

"The optics of my 3" model 140 are unexcelled by any telescope anywhere as far as I'm concerned. Here are the results I obtained: night of August 24 I resolved Zeta Herculis, components of 3.0 and 6.5 magnitudes and a separation of 1.3". I not only resolved the stars but observed clear dark sky between the two components . . . Then on the early morning of August 25 I resolved the star Eta Orionis into its separate components of 3.8 and 4.8 magnitudes of 1.4" separation. It resolved beautifully under magnifications of 131X and 171X as had Zeta Herculis the night before."

R. C., New Mexico

"Pleased with prompt service"

"I was pleased with the prompt service I received on delivery of my UNITRON Model 160V. As you have heard so many times, I find it to be excellent in all respects, even beyond your advertised claims. I was able to photographically confirm the observation of asteroid Iris, an accomplishment I would never even have attempted with my 8" reflector. I have had it out nearly every clear night since I received it."

Unitron refractors are designed to give you the most telescope for your money whether it's a 2.4" Altazimuth or our fine 4" Equatorial with clock drive or perhaps our superb 5" or 6" instruments. And you can choose from more than 30 models to meet your specific needs.

Versatility? Again, you can count on Unitron. We offer a range of accessories you have to see to believe!

Send for our big catalog and select the telescope that's just right for you. And there's no reason to delay. You can take advantage of our easy payment plan if you wish.
