

SCIENCE NEWS

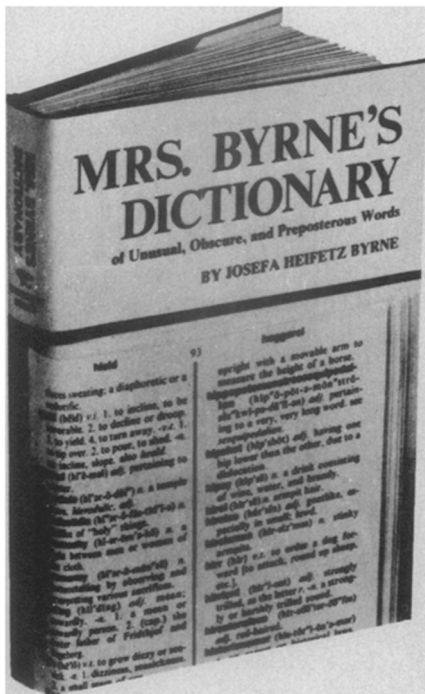

OCTOBER 10, 1981
VOL. 120, NO. 15

VERBAL RORSCHACH

*Me
Because although However her
Me
since Seems*

For years I suffered terribly from LETHOLOGICA
until a nice doctor friend prescribed

Mrs. Byrne's Dictionary of Unusual, Obscure, and Preposterous Words

Yes, for years I couldn't remember the right words. People I considered complete idiots were finishing my sentences for me. I was leaving blanks in my love letters and suicide notes. I found how bleak the future was when I tried a little cephalonamancy (fortunetelling by boiling an ass head), and tyromancy (fortunetelling by watching cheese coagulate).

I went from doctor to doctor looking for help, finally becoming a confirmed iatrapistiatic (one having little faith in doctors), especially when one suggested I needed a hepaticocholangiocholecystenterostomy (look it up).

Then I found Mrs. Byrne's Dictionary. Now I can be unusual, obscure and preposterous by turns. Now I don't need an unabridged to go along with my collegiate. For entertainment now, I browse instead of groak (watching people silently while they eat, hoping they'll ask you to join them). I don't care anymore that we have a kakistocracy (government or rule by the worst).

Mrs. Byrne's Dictionary by Josefa Heifetz is better than omphaloskepsis!

GARDYLOO!

Herb Caen in the San Francisco Chronicle: "Wildly funny!"

Leslie Hanscom in Newsday: "You can dip in anywhere and come up with pay dirt . . . hundreds of words to stand your hair on end. Only a clinchpoop could scan these pages without a feeling of awe at the undiscovered boundaries of the English tongue!"

Nels Nelson in the Philadelphia Daily News: "A treasure! We should all kiss the publisher's feet!"

Camilla Snyder in the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner: "Hilariously useful . . . delicious!"

Donald B. Thackrey of United Press International: "A dictionary you can browse through and read like a book . . . a dictionary that will give great pleasure to many. Every page contains at least one nugget."

Sydney J. Harris in the Chicago Daily News: "There is no comparable work; I unreservedly recommend it."

At your favorite bookshop or order directly from the publisher, using the handy coupon below.

University Books, Inc., 120 Enterprise Ave., Secaucus, N.J. 07094

Please send me by return mail a copy of MRS. BYRNES DICTIONARY for which I enclose $12.50 plus $1 for postage and shipping.

My name: _____

Address: _____

City: _____ State: _____ Zip: _____

(University Books is a Lyle Stuart company)

SN-10/10/81

Spanning the Sciences

Books & Reports from the National Academy Press

WOMEN, WORK, AND WAGES:

Equal Pay for Jobs of Equal Value
Prepared at the request of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, this report analyzes and assesses the major issues related to "comparable worth," exploring some of the causes for wage differentials between men and women and suggesting some potential remedies.
ISBN 0-309-03177-X, $8.75

FOOD CHEMICALS CODEX,

Third Edition
For more than 15 years, the Codex has been an indispensable source of information on the quality and purity of food-grade substances. This new edition provides revised and updated information on standards of chemical purity and methods for testing the purity levels of nearly 800 substances.
ISBN 0-309-03090-0, $45.00

INDOOR POLLUTANTS

One of the first studies of its kind, this report examines a range of toxic substances often found in indoor environments. It identifies the indoor sources of these hazardous compounds, evaluates their effects on human health and welfare, and assesses current methods and strategies for controlling these pollutants.

ISBN 0-309-03188-5, $16.25

SURFACE MINING: Soil, Coal, and Society

This study takes a penetrating look at the complex issues surrounding surface mining for coal and its impact on our soil resources. It urges the development of reclamation laws that would be "flexible enough to permit the most appropriate reclamation practices . . . at each site."
ISBN 0-309-03140-0, $11.50

PRUDENT PRACTICES FOR HANDLING HAZARDOUS CHEMICALS IN LABORATORIES

This authoritative guide is an essential reference for anyone who works in a laboratory or who is responsible for the safety of researchers, students, technicians, and other laboratory workers. It reviews virtually every aspect of laboratory safety: how to prevent accidents and minimize hazards and how to deal with emergency situations.

ISBN 0-309-03128-1, $12.00

AIRLINE PILOT AGE, HEALTH, AND PERFORMANCE: Scientific and Medical Considerations

In the 22 years since the Federal Aviation Administration adopted the "age-60" retirement rule for commercial airline pilots, many questions have been raised about its fairness and necessity. This study presents the latest and most reliable medical and scientific information available on the subject.
ISBN 0-309-03176-1, $9.50

HEALTH EFFECTS OF EXPOSURE TO DIESEL EXHAUSTS

The first of a series of studies on public policy issues related to the use of diesel-powered automobiles, this volume analyzes the data available on the toxicology and epidemiology of emissions from diesel engines and assesses the adequacy and comprehensiveness of planned research programs.
ISBN 0-309-03130-3, $9.75

Use the coupon below to order.

NATIONAL ACADEMY PRESS

Room JH 700/SN
2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20418

Please send me the following books:

Qty.	Qty.	Qty.
_____ 3177	_____ 3140	_____ 3176
_____ 3090	_____ 3128	_____ 3130
_____ 3188

A check or money order must accompany all orders unless a bona fide purchase order of $10.00 or more is enclosed. Postage paid by publisher on prepaid orders.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

National Academy
Press

The National Academy Press was created by the National Academy of Sciences to publish the reports issued by the Academy and by the National Academy of Engineering, the Institute of Medicine, and the National Research Council, all operating under the charter granted to the National Academy of Sciences by the Congress of the United States.