

Give a KINGDOM OF CATS
for the holidays

Published by the National Wildlife Federation

People the world over have a love affair with cats. The great cats — lions and tigers among them — fascinate us with their strength, their agility and their cunning stealth. Domestic cats are but soft, charming companions in the body of a sleek, graceful hunter. The rest of the cat family, from the leopard to the bobcat, are the embodiment of wilderness. It is this spirit of wilderness that has made the cat such a constant wonder to mankind through the ages.

But this book is more than a discovery journey to visit the many species of cats. It is made to please the eye and the mind. Its 200 color pictures come from the world's finest photographers, and its commentary is fact-filled.
