Why do we desire one person rather than another as a mate? How are we able to live together in large groups? These human characteristics are rooted in the distant past, as William F. Allman informs us in the The Stone Age Present.

Reporting on cutting-edge ideas — in such disciplines as anthropology, psychology, linguistics, philosophy, and artificial intelligence — Allman shows how our minds evolved in response to challenges faced by our prehistoric ancestors. And he reveals how our brains continue to harbor that long-ago legacy in the present day.

Scientists speculate that countless problems, from individuals being overweight to nations waging war, result because our "Stone Age minds" haven't caught up with our overcrowded, technologically sophisticated world.

This illuminating book moves beyond the "nature vs. nurture" debate to provide a guide to understanding the ancient origins of our modern psyche.

Dramatic new research shows that:

- A carrot a day could slash your risk of stroke by nearly 70 percent.
- Ginger can stop migraine headaches and nausea.
- A food allergy may be the cause of your fatigue.

Food — Your Miracle Medicine is the first comprehensive guide, based on the latest scientific research, that reveals how you can use the extraordinary powers of food to conquer disease. Jean Carper has now translated the amazing new discoveries about the medicinal powers of food into practical advice and information that you can use every day to prevent and alleviate such common maladies as headaches, hay fever, and arthritic pain, as well as to ward off our major killers, including heart disease and cancer.

In this book you will find out exactly what you should eat — and not eat — to prevent or relieve dozens of symptoms and problems. The lively writing makes it an irresistible read as well as a much-needed reference for using food as a partial alternative to costly pharmaceutical drugs and medical treatments.

Food — Your Miracle Medicine is based on more than ten thousand cutting-edge studies by researchers from prestigious scientific institutions around the world, including Harvard, Johns Hopkins, MIT, and the National Cancer Institute. — from HarperCollins

Now Available on Compact Discs or Cassette Tapes!

Each Birding by Ear set comes with three tapes or CDs and is accompanied by a booklet that shows line drawings of each bird with brief descriptions of its habitat and voice characteristics. Good for the beginning birder or advanced visual birder.

Eastern/Central Birding by Ear provides a system for learning bird songs in general, including unfamiliar and new songs and calls for 85 common species. As you proceed through learning groups such as mimics, whistlers, and name-sayers, you will develop techniques and vocabulary useful in characterizing and recalling bird songs.

Western Birding by Ear groups 91 common species by their audio similarity into 19 categories such as hummers, high-pitchers, and warbling songsters. Birds are also grouped by habitat, such as Pacific coastal forests, urban parks, and deserts and canyons.
