YOUR HOUSE CAT

BILL FLEMING AND JUDY PETERSEN-FLEMING

“Anyone who owns a cat or who is owned by a cat will find this to be the most complete and accurate guidebook ever written about cats.

It not only provides the answers to all of the problems cats create in a household, it explains how to interpret and deal with the complex habits peculiar only to cats.”

— Alfred Kissileff, Doctor of Veterinary Medicine

His body melts into the ground, tense with each muscle rippling, his eyes blazing with a primitive excitement. Suddenly, all thirteen pounds of Fridge the tomcat pounce in the air and a young sparrow narrowly escapes.

Now Available in Paperback!

Whether a five-hundred-pound Bengal tiger or a thirteen-pound house cat — a cat is a cat is a cat. Here, at last, is a book for all cat lovers who have always suspected that the difference between their cats and the majestic tigers of the wild is largely a matter of size.

The authors are animal behaviorists who take you inside the mind of the tiger and give you practical examples of how you can live in harmony with the tiger on your couch. Bill Fleming can play with the big cats because he has conditioned them to retract their claws during play. Using his simple technique, any cat owner can condition his or her cat to play without scratching or biting. No cat ever needs to be declawed again!

Almost a hundred black-and-white photographs and sixteen pages of dazzling color photographs allow you to see the comparisons between tiger and cat.

From choosing a kitten to making cat toys, from bathing a cat to taking it on a trip, from making a house safe for a cat to teaching it to respect furniture, The Tiger on Your Couch is a total guide to natural cat care for both new and longtime cat owners. The authors also provide information on environmentally safe cat products and on saving the big cats of the wild and helping America's stray cats. The Tiger on Your Couch is a breathtaking visit to the world of majestic tigers — and a primer for a happy life with your house cat.
