

The original was lauded by critics
for its sound, looks, and bold engineering.

This is for people who
just want to play their CDs on it.

It's here: the new Bose® Wave® radio/CD. Because all things can be improved—even a product that Radio World called “simply amazing”—Bose presents the Wave radio/CD. It's every bit as ingenious as the original: a radio that Wired magazine said will “have your friends wondering where you've hidden your fancy speakers.” Now your friends will have new things to wonder about. For example, how anyone could have fit a CD player into the radio while adding a mere quarter-inch to its size. The secret? For 18 months, Bose engineers rethought the most thoughtfully designed radio in the world. They returned with a clever reconfiguration of our patented Acoustic Wave® speaker technology (the technology which earned us the “Inventor of the Year” award). Smaller and tapered, the new waveguide delivers the same great sound as the original Wave radio. We sweet tones; the deep bass that lends warmth to music; the sheer size of the sound even at low volumes; and the same spare, elegant design that gave the original a place in the Chicago Athenaeum Museum's permanent design collection.

As always, the opinion that counts most is yours. Please judge the Wave radio/CD for yourself, in the comfort of your own home. Order today, directly from Bose, for $499. Or enjoy the option of six interest-free payments. After 30 days, return it—if you can. The Bose Wave radio/CD: It's what radio lovers have been raving about and CD lovers like you have been waiting for.
