

science for the slower learner

Grades 7 and up

study lessons in general science

a new Follett
Basic Learnings
title.
Reading Level
Grade 5

Here's a program that will give your slower learners a basic understanding in general science. The daily lessons, written in language these boys and girls can understand, provide reviews, new material and a question section that measures comprehension. Lessons are built around simple, clearly stated, basic ideas, reinforced by easy-to-do experiments and demonstrations.

Using a reading skills approach, Study Lessons in General Science provides a teaching plan easily adjustable to the student's abilities. Review sections provide strong carry-over for previous learnings. Daily summaries and question sections enable teachers to measure progress of individuals and classes. Assignments can be made according to individual student's ability.

For additional information write Dept. DM

FOLLETT EDUCATIONAL CORPORATION

1010 West Washington Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois 60607

402/science news/vol. 94/19 october 1968