STATISTICS

Hospitalization Goes to Nearly Twice 1950 Level

THE NUMBER of Americans who subscribe to hospital insurance has almost doubled in the past ten years.

Health Insurance Institute figures show that at the beginning of 1950, some 66,000,000 persons were covered by this insurance. The number grew to 123,000,000 by the close of 1958. A preliminary sampling indicates that the 1959 year-end coverage figures will exceed 125,000,000.

Progress during the 50's also marked the other major types of health insurance: surgical expense insurance, regular medical insurance, loss of income, and major medical expense insurance.

From the beginning of 1950 to the end of 1958, the number of persons with surgical insurance rose from 41,000,000 to 111,000,000, while the climb was from 17,000,000 to 75,000,000 in regular medical insurance, which pays for doctor visits for non-surgical care.

In little more than ten years, the number of subscribers to major medical insurance rose to 17,000,000. This insurance provides benefits from $5,000 to $15,000 to help absorb the cost of serious illness.

Senior citizens are getting a break in the form of various methods by which insurance companies can provide protection for those more than 65 years old.
