'Science has made neighbors of all nations. May understanding and justice make them friends.'

The New Geographies promote international understanding.

They are also the newest, most interesting, and most attractive of all the geographies.

Our World Today opens a new era for progressive teachers of geography. Old fashions are being discarded for the modern ideals of this new series.

Interest as well as newness is a distinctive feature of Our World Today. Every page shows the skill of two teachers who know from experience how to make geography interesting to children.
